

Student Learning Outcomes

Undergraduate Accounting Program

Graduating students should be able to:

1. Analyze and evaluate costing systems, prepare master budgets, evaluate managerial performance, analyze management control systems and provide decision support for cost management and other managerial decisions.
2. Analyze transaction cycles and accounting processes, evaluate risk, and recommend internal controls for accounting processes.
3. Use software to improve efficiency and internal control, analyze data and support decision making.
4. Analyze and communicate the effects of basic tax rules on individuals, partnerships and corporations, and prepare basic tax returns based on research of pertinent authority to answer tax questions.
5. Prepare and evaluate financial statements according to generally accepted accounting principles and identify, research, and recommend resolution of related accounting issues, including ethical implications of alternatives
6. Perform basic analysis of financial systems and statements, and write a report on the performance, financial condition, and management effectiveness.
7. Demonstrate skills and abilities relevant to the accounting profession, including effective written and oral communication and working effectively in teams.
8. Be aware of the needs of communities beyond the boundaries of their professional community.

Student Learning Outcomes

MPAC Program

Graduating students should be able to:

1. Analyze and evaluate costing systems, prepare master budgets, evaluate managerial performance, evaluate management control systems, and provide decision support for cost management, and other operational and strategic managerial decisions.
2. Analyze transaction cycles and accounting processes, evaluate risk, and recommend internal controls for accounting processes.
3. Use software to improve efficiency and internal control, analyze data and support decision making.
4. Analyze and communicate the effects of tax rules on partnerships and corporations, and prepare advanced tax returns based on research of pertinent authority to answer tax questions.
5. Prepare and evaluate financial statements according to generally accepted accounting principles and identify, explain, research, resolve, and communicate related accounting issues, including ethical implications of alternatives.
6. Perform in-depth analysis of financial systems and statements, and write a report on the performance, financial condition, management effectiveness, financial risks and valuation.
7. Demonstrate skills and abilities relevant to the accounting profession, including effective written and oral communication and working effectively in teams.
8. Be sensitive about and involved with the needs of communities beyond the boundaries of their professional community.